SYNOPSIS

This resolution authorizes the Mayor to take the first step in establishing a Community Revitalization Enhancement District (CREED) for the former Thomson site, now known as the Indiana Enterprise Center. The CREED legislation was recently adopted by the state legislature to address situations like the relocation of the Thomson Plant, where the community loses significant tax revenues at the same time it needs more revenues to redevelop on old facility. It does this in two ways: first; by using some of the new tax revenues generated from the site to finance the improvements needed to attract private investors; and second, by offering tax credits for private investors who invest in redeveloping the site.
